G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS'
NEW LIST.

MY LADY OF THE NORTH.
The Story of a Gray-Jacket. By RANDALL PARRISH, author of "When Wilderness was King." Crown 8vo, cloth extra, with four Illustrations in Colour. 6s.
A story of the Civil War which really goes by its own momentum has got to be something of a rarity.

MY LADY OF THE NORTH
DOES GO, AND GOES WITH SWEEP AND DASH, without omitting any of the old-fashioned properties of romance or noble sentiment.
The history of this remarkable novel is astounding: First edition exhausted before publication; second edition exhausted before publication; third edition appeared 23 days after publication; fourth edition 21 days later; fifth edition a fortnight afterwards; sixth edition is now printing.
☞ The success of Mr. Parrish's second romance bids fair to eclipse that of his first, "When Wilderness was King." 6s.

THE KAISER AS HE IS; or, the Real William II. (Le Véritable Guillaume II.). By HENRI DE NOUSSANNE. Translated into English by WALTER LITTLEFIELD, Author of "The Truth about Dreyfus," etc. Crown 8vo, cloth extra, 6s.
A series of excellent sketches—intimate, lifelike, graphic—dealing with every phase of character and action of the German Emperor—domestic, social, political, national, and international. Both in private and public life he is always doing or saying something new or astonishing. The variety and versatility of the actor forfends indifference and banishes boredom.

THE GIRL OF LA GLORIA. By CLARA DRISCOLL. Illustrated. Crown 8vo, cloth extra, 6s.
A charming love-story of Texas. The heroine, Ilaria, is the last of an old Mexican family, who have gradually been dispossessed of all their lands by the grasping Americanos.

"WANTED A COOK." By ALAN DALE. Crown 8vo, cloth extra, 6s.
An uproariously funny comedy-novel of a self-conscious couple in contact with the servant question. The farce and satire of the æsthetic-homelife-in-a-flat paradox, told in Mr. Dale's brightly entertaining manner, all centreing about the ludicrous predicaments with "Cook."

RABELAIS. Including all the Best Chapters of his famous "Romance of Gargantua and Pantagruel" (the Seventeenth Century Version of Urquhart and Motteux). 1 vol., 8vo, cloth extra, 7s. 6d. net.

FIRST ISSUE IN THE FRENCH CLASSICS FOR ENGLISH READERS.
Edited by ADOLPHE COHN, LL.B., and CURTIS HIDDEN PAGE, Ph.D.
The design of the series is to present the chief French authors in the best possible translation to English readers, to meet the need of many who are interested in French literature and desire to know it directly, but who cannot easily read its authors in the original, and to fill the lack of adequate and dignified representation of these authors in public and private libraries.

OTHER VOLUMES IN PREPARATION:
MONTAIGNE, MOLIÈRE (2 vols.), BEAUMARCHAIS, GEORGE SAND.

THOMAS CRANMER AND THE ENGLISH REFORMATION. 1489-1556. By ALBERT FREDERICK POLLARD, M.A., F.R.H.S., Author of "Henry VIII.", "England under Protector Somerset," &c. Crown 8vo, cloth extra, fully illustrated, 6s. No. 6 in "Heroes of Reformation" Series.
"There are many points in Cranmer's life that need elucidation. He has been termed the most mysterious figure in the English Reformation; the obscurity is not in his character, but in the atmosphere which he breathed, and that atmosphere is the most difficult of all things to recreate."—Extract from the Preface

CONSTANTINE THE GREAT. The Reorganization of the Empire and the Triumph of the Church. By J. B. FIRTH, Author of "Augustus Cæsar," etc. Crown 8vo, cloth extra, fully illustrated, 5s. No. 19 in the "Heroes of the Nations."
Mr. Firth is an impartial historian, and he has tried to present a fair and accurate description of Constantine the Great. There are many matters connected with the reign of Constantine which have been the subjects of heated controversy ever since his time. Mr. Firth realises the importance and significance of the first conversion of a Roman Emperor to Christianity, and his book is a brilliant chronicle, worthy of its subject.

To Every Intelligent Englishman.

The Army and Navy Gazette, in reviewing " The Government and the Army," says of this pamphlet ; " A series of remarkable articles. . . . They constitute a very illuminative commentary upon the present condition of the Army problem. Written from a sound and orthodox point of view, recognising the primacy of the Navy and all that that implies for our military organisation, they deserve to be read by every soldier and, we may say, by every intelligent Englishman. . . . The pamphlet is full of suggestion, and we earnestly commend our readers to make themselves masters of it."

AUTHORISED SHARE CAPITAL £5,075,000,
Of which £2,739,880 has been issued and is fully paid,
and £3,000 " " 20 per cent. paid.

AUTHORISED BORROWING POWERS ... £1,691,000.

MESSRS. SPEYER BROTHERS OFFER FOR SALE
£1,200,000 FOUR PER CENT. PERPETUAL DEBENTURE STOCK

To be issued under the above-mentioned Borrowing Powers, and of which £660,000 has already been created and the balance will be created from time to time and issued in pursuance of the Construction Contracts mentioned below.

£600,000 of the Debenture Stock now offered has been applied for and will be allotted in full on the terms of this Prospectus.

Interest payable half-yearly on 1st January and 1st July.

The price of sale is £97 per cent. Payable as follows:

£10	per cent.	on Application,
£15	" "	Allotment,
£25	" "	12th June, 1905,
£25	" "	10th August, 1905,
£22	" "	10th November, 1905.
£97	per cent.

Upon payment of the instalment due on allotment, Messrs. Speyer Brothers will issue their Scrip Certificates "to Bearer," conferring the right on the holder thereof, upon payment in full and surrender of the Certificates and any unmatured Coupons, to the issue (after the balance of the Stock now offered has become issuable) of the Debenture Stock therein mentioned.

The Scrip Certificates will carry a Coupon, due 1st July next, for interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum on the instalments due prior to 1st July, and full half-yearly Coupons for subsequent interest until exchanged for Debenture Stock.

Payment in full may be mada on allotment or on either of the next two instalment dates under discount at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum.

Power is being applied for in the Company's Bills of the present Session to enable holders of Debenture Stock to convert the same into Bearer Debenture Stock, and to re-register Bearer Debenture Stock.

Extracts from a letter from W. E. Mandelick, Esq., Secretary of the Company, which accompanies the Prospectus, giving particulars of the route of THE GREAT NORTHERN, PICCADILLY AND BROMPTON RAILWAY, the Railway Systems with which it will connect, the Construction Contracts, Progress of Works, and Estimated Revenue:—

The Map and the Report of Mr. Stephen Sellon, to which reference is made, also accompany the Prospectus.

"The line, as authorised by Parliament, is about 7¼ miles in length, and extends, as will be seen from the enclosed map, from beneath the Finsbury Park Station of the Great Northern Railway Company, to a point about 18¾ chains westward of the West Kensington Station of the Metropolitan District Railway Company, where it comes to the surface. The Company are negotiating with the Metropolitan District Railway Company the terms for running over that Company's line from West Kensington to Hammersmith, with the use of a portion of the latter station.

"From Finsbury Park to King's Cross the line runs, by virtue of a Statutory Agreement with the Great Northern Railway Company, under the main line of that Company, thence it proceeds in a southerly direction to Holborn, thence to Piccadilly Circus, viâ Long Acre and Coventry Street, thence under Piccadilly to Hyde Park Corner and by way of Knightsbridge, Brompton Road, South Kensington and Earl's Court to West Kensington.

"By Bills in the present Session powers are being sought for extensions through Kensington to Hammersmith and to Acton on the west and to Aldgate on the east, and from the Strand to Waterloo on the south.

"I refer you to the accompanying report of Mr. Stephen Sellon, M.I.C.E., the well-known Tramway Expert, in which he estimates that the line will carry 60,000,000 passengers per annum. Assuming the average receipt per passenger to be 1·86d., about the same as on the Central London Railway, and the miscellaneous receipts to amount to £10,000 per annum, the total gross revenue would amount to £475,000.

"Mr. James R. Chapman, Engineer-in-Chief of the Underground Electric Railways Company, estimates that the total working expenses will amount to £255,750 per annum.

"NET REVENUE.—Interest on £1,691,000, the total borrowing powers of the Company, at 4 per cent. per annum, being the maximum rate of interest authorised, amounts to £67,640. Upon the above estimates this would leave a surplus net Revenue after payment of Debenture Interest of £151,610.

"It is expected that trains will be running between Finsbury Park and Hammersmith in the year 1906."

The Debenture Stock now offered forms part of the Stock payable now or hereafter to the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, Limited, under the Construction Contracts above referred to, and has been purchased from them by Messrs. Speyer Brothers.

Application for Debenture Stock must be made on the annexed form. Default in payment of any instalment at the due date will render the allotment liable to cancellation and all previous payments liable to forfeiture.

Copies of the special Acts of Parliament relating to the Company and of the Construction Contracts and Agreement for Lease referred to in the Prospectus, can be seen at the office of Messrs. Bircham and Co., 50, Old Broad Street, London, E.C., during usual business hours, before the list is closed.

Prospectuses and Forms of Application may be obtained from Messrs. Speyer Brothers.

Mandelick, Esq., Secretary of the Company, which accompanies the Prospectus, giving particulars of the route of the Charing Cross, Euston and Hampstead Railway, the Railway Systems with which it connects, the Construction Contracts, Progress of Works, and estimated Revenue.

Map and the Report of Mr. Stephen Sellon, to which reference is made, also accompanies the Prospectus.

"TRAFFIC.—This line will provide the much-needed means of rapid communication between Hampstead and Highgate on the north and the central parts of London. It will afford an unrivalled means of access to Hampstead Heath and, in conjunction with the authorised Edgware and Hampstead Railway, will open for development a considerable district which is ripe for building. It will form a means of rapid communication between the Midland and London and North Western Railway systems on the north and the Chatham and South Eastern Railway systems on the south. It runs through the heart of the theatre district. Its facilities for interchange of traffic with the Great Northern, Piccadilly and Brompton, the Central London and the Baker Street and Waterloo Railways, the last giving access to Waterloo and the south, should be productive of considerable revenue.

"I refer you to the report of Mr. Stephen Sellon, M.I.C.E., the well-known Tramway Expert, a copy of which is enclosed. That gentleman estimates that the line will carry 50,000,000 passengers per annum. Assuming the average receipt per passenger to be 1·86d., about the same as the Central London Railway, and the miscellaneous receipts to amount to £7,500 per annum, the total gross revenue would amount to £295,000.

"Mr. James R. Chapman, Engineer-in-Chief of the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, Limited, estimates the total working expenses at £196,000 per annum.

"NET REVENUE.—Interest on £1,442,000, the total borrowing powers of the Company, at 4 per cent., being the maximum rate of interest authorised, would amount to £57,680, leaving a surplus Net Revenue, after payment of Debenture Interest, of £142,320.

"The Engineers anticipate that the whole of the running tunnels, both on the main and the branch lines, will be completed by the end of the present year, and it is expected that the line will be open for public traffic in the early part of 1907."

The Debenture Stock now offered forms par of the Stock payable now or hereafter to the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, Limited, under the Construction Contracts above referred to, and has been purchased from them by Messrs. Speyer Brothers.

Application for Debenture Stock must be made on the annexed form. Default in the payment of any instalment at the due date will render the allotment liable to cancellation and all previous payments liable to forfeiture.

Copies of the above-mentioned Acts of Parliament and Construction Contracts can be seen at the office of Messrs. Bircham and Co., 50, Old Whistler. No. 1 "Spirit of the Age Series." (Edinburgh and London: T. N. Foulis. Paper, 6d. net.) A rather aggressive essay in praise of Whistler.

Auguste Rodin: The Man, his Ideas, his Work. By Camille Mauclair. Translated by Clementina Black. (Duckworth, 10s. 6d. net.) An attempt to explain M. Rodin's æsthetic principles by an intimate friend of his; also an account of his work. Many illustrations.

Dress and Decoration. (Liberty and Co., 7s. 6d. net.) Patterns of dresses and furniture designed by Messrs. Liberty.

Chats on Old Furniture: a Practical Guide for Collectors. By Arthur Hayden. (Unwin. 5s. net.) Gives a historical account of the development of furniture from the Renaissance to the end of the eighteenth century, mainly in England, but with a chapter on the Renaissance on the continent and four on French furniture in the eighteenth century. There is also a chapter of hints to collectors. Many illustrations.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Sun and the Serpent: A contribution to the History of Serpent Worship. (Constable, 10s. 6d. net.) Based upon papers sent to the Royal Asiatic Society. Treats of serpent and sun worship and their connection in all countries.

Twenty Years Ago. By Edmund Downey. (Hurst and Blackett, 6s.) Reminiscences of Bohemian literary society by a publisher.

Fiscal Ballads. By Harry Graham. (Arnold. 1s. net.) Most of these have appeared in the Westminster Gazette. They are good both in intention and execution.

Through Isle and Empire. By the Vicomte Robert D'Humières Prefatory Letter by Rudyard Kipling. (Heinemann, 6s.) Chapters on England and different parts of the British Empire. In an amusing preface Mr. Kipling complains that the author has accused him of adoring Offenbach. He would sooner be the aggressive Imperialist of fiction, he says, than an adorer of Offenbach.

REPRINTS, NEW EDITIONS, &c.

Tennyson's Princess. With Introduction and Notes by Ethel Fry, M.A. (Lond). (Blackie, 1s. 6d.).

Timon of Athens.—Troilus and Cressida. "Little Quarto Shakespeare." (Methuen. 1s. net each.)

A History of Intellectual Development of Europe. By John William Draper, M.D., LL.D. (Bell, 2s. net).

ESSAYS, &c.

The Complete Idler. By Herbert W. Tompkins. (Dent, 2s. 6d. net.) Short papers reprinted from Magazines on country subjects.

Books and Personalities. By H. W. Nevinson. (Lane. 5s. net.) Treats of familiar literary subjects. Reprinted from The Speaker and other papers and periodicals.

TRANSLATIONS.

Cantonese Love Songs. Two vols. (Clarendon Press, 10s. 6d. net each vol.) One volume consists of the Chinese text and glossary, the other of the translation, introduction, and notes. A work for the expert.

The Trojan Women of Euripides. Translated into English Rhyming Verse by Gilbert Murray, M.A., LL.D. (Allen, 2s. net.) This translation is accompanied by notes and a short introduction.

VERSE.

The Grey Brethren, and other Fragments in Prose and Verse. (Duckworth, cloth, 2s. 6d. net.) Posthumous fragments in prose and verse.

An Inaugural Ode. By Alexander Blair Thaw. (Nelson, N.H., Monadnock Press.) Written on the occasion of President Roosevelt's inauguration in a style more mild than inspired.

FICTION.

The Vicissitudes of Evangeline. By Elinor Glyn. (Duckworth, 6s.)

By Beach and Bogland. By Jane Barlow. (Unwin, 6s.)

In Search of the Unknown. By Robert W. Chambers. (Constable, 6s.)

The Adventures of Louis Dural. By Margaret Bryant (Brown, Langham, 6s.) An exciting tale of political intrigue in the Near East. The plot shows much imaginative dexterity.

Gossip. By Benjamin Swift. (Duckworth, 6s.) Very characteristic of the author's undoubted talent. The picture of the widow, Mrs. Beaufoy, in love with young Eustace, to the scandal of her own family, is excellently touched off.

Amanda of the Mill. By Marie van Vorst. (Heinemann, 6s.) Well worth reading. The scene where the father, Grismore, hides within the room, from whose balcony Enstor, his sorely-wronged son, addresses the mob of factory rioters who are seeking Grismore's life, is highly dramatic, and should be brought to the attention of Mr. Beerbohm Tree.

A Gendarme of the King. By Philip L. Stevenson. (Hurst and Blackett, 6s.) A romance of the adventures of a Scotch gentleman in the service of Frederick the Great in the Seven Years' War.

Constance West. By E. R. Punshon. (Lane, 6s.) There is a very striking scene in the novel between Mrs. West, the repentant wife, and Deegan, the bad character, who, standing over her husband's dying body, offers to go in search of a doctor if she will say "I love you." But Mrs. West's ethical sense is so strong that she refuses to tell a lie to save her husband. Contains some really excellent character-drawing.

Caprice. By Constance Evan Jones. (Nisbet, 6s.) A conscientious study of a woman's nature. Some of the scenes are delicately handled, and the book is certainly promising considered as a first attempt.

Mrs. Galer's Business. By W. Pett Ridge. (Methuen, 6s.)

The Castle of the Shadows. By Mrs. C. N. Williamson. (Methuen, 6s.) The story of a subtle and wicked Marchese, brightly and lightly handled.

It was a Boy. By H. A. Mitchell Keays. (Bristol: Arrowsmith, 3s. 6d.)

Rice Papers. By H. L. Norris. (Longmans, 6s.) Clever stories of Chinese life and character. The author shows himself possessed of a keen and highly-trained observation.
